Milberg LLP Announces Its Investigation Relating to the Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. Savings Plan (401k)

NEW YORK, June 18, 2008 (PRIME NEWSWIRE) -- Attorney Advertising. The law firm of Milberg LLP is investigating possible illegal conduct alleged in class action complaints filed in the Northern District of Illinois against Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc. ("Lehman Brothers" or the "Company") (Nasdaq:LEH) and certain of its officers and directors.

Specifically, Milberg is investigating whether certain fiduciaries of The Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. Savings Plan (401k) (the "Plan") may have violated the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"). Violations may have occurred in at least two ways: (1) by continuing to offer Lehman Brothers stock as a Plan investment when it was imprudent to do so, and (2) by maintaining the Plan's investment in Lehman Brothers stock in the Plan when it was imprudent to do so.

Notably, according to the complaints, defendants failed to disclose material adverse facts concerning Lehman Brothers financial well-being, business operations and prospects. Specifically, the complaints allege that the Company failed to disclose: (1) the true nature and extent of its exposure to losses in connection with subprime mortgage-backed derivatives; (2) the true nature and extent of its exposure to losses in connection with collateralized debt obligations and the timely writedown of those losses; (3) the Company's financial statements were not prepared in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles; and (4) Lehman Brothers had inadequate internal and reporting controls. Milberg is investigating whether, based on the foregoing allegations, Lehman Brothers stock was an imprudent investment for the Plan.

If you have or had an individual account with the Lehman Brothers Holdings, Inc. Savings Plan (401k), and your account holds or held Lehman Brothers common stock, you may have legal claims under ERISA.

Milberg LLP has been representing individual and institutional investors for nearly 40 years and serves as lead counsel in U.S. federal and state courts. Schatz Nobel Izard, P.C. Announces Investigation of Lehman Brothers Savings Plan

Monday June 23, 1:12 pm ET

HARTFORD, Conn., June 23, 2008 (PRIME NEWSWIRE) -- The law firm of Schatz Nobel Izard, P.C., which is one of the leading firms in the country representing employees who lost money investing in company stock in their 401(k) retirement plans, is investigating potential claims against Lehman Brothers Holdings ("Lehman Brothers" or the "Company") (NYSE:LEH - News) for violations of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA"). The investigation involves investments in the Lehman Brothers Savings Plan (the "Plan") and whether Lehman Brothers and other administrators of the Plan may have breached their ERISA-mandated fiduciary duties of loyalty and prudence to participants and beneficiaries of the Plan. A breach may have occurred if the fiduciaries failed to manage the assets of the Plan prudently and loyally by investing the assets in Company stock when it was no longer a prudent investment for participants' retirement savings. Specifically, Lehman Brothers and the Plan's other fiduciaries continued to invest in and hold Lehman Brothers stock in the Plan despite the Company's apparent mismanagement of the risk of assets held by the Company and its failure to maintain adequate capital and liquidity.

Schatz Nobel Izard, P.C. is also investigating claims on behalf of those who purchased Lehman Brothers common stock. An action seeking class action status has been filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York on behalf of all persons who purchased Lehman Brothers common stock between September 13, 2006 and June 6, 2008. The action alleges that Lehman Brothers made materially false and misleading statements concerning the Company's financial condition and its exposure to the credit market meltdown.

If you bought Lehman Brothers stock through your Lehman Savings Plan or if you purchased Lehman Brothers common stock between September 13, 2006 and June 6, 2008 and would like to learn more about these claims, please contact Schatz Nobel Izard, P.C. toll-free at (800) 797-5499, or by e-mail at firm@snilaw.com. TO THE HONORABLE JOANNA SEYBERT, UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE:

Presently before the Court are several motions for consolidation and appointment of lead plaintiff and lead counsel in fifteen related securities fraud class action lawsuits¹ (the “class actions”) brought on behalf of persons who purchased or otherwise acquired securities of DHB Industries, Inc. (“DHB”) between approximately November 18, 2003 and August 29, 2005. Also before the Court are motions for consolidation and appointment of a representative plaintiff and lead counsel in four related derivative actions² (the “derivative actions”) brought by DHB shareholders seeking recovery on behalf of DHB against its officers, directors, and accounting firm for, inter alia, breach of fiduciary duty and aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty.

DHB Industries, Inc., a Delaware corporation with principal offices in Westbury, New York, is a holding company that manufactures and markets protective body armor through two divisions, DHB Armor Group and DHB Sports Group. The class action complaints generally allege that the defendant officers and directors inflated DHB’s stock by issuing a series of false statements and financial reports, and then sold their stock at inflated prices prior to the subsequent collapse of the stock based on reports that DHB knowingly sold defective products. The complaints allege that the defendants’ conduct violated §§ 10(b), 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (“Exchange Act”), as amended by the Private Securities Litigation ¹The class actions are: (1) Yeroushalami v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4296; (2) Suprina v. DHB, et al., (3) CV 05-4330; Pucek v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4331; (4) Gottdiener v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4332; (5) Wang v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4380; (6) Helm v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4405; (7) Simons v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4408; (8) LSP Partners v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4468; (9) Bushnell v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4476; (10) Corey v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4491; (11) Moller v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4888; (12) Corbett v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4919; (13) Gelman v. DHB, et al., CV 05-4886; (14) Mamos v. DHB, et al., CV 05-5009; and (15) NECA-IBEW Pension Fund v. DHB, et al., CV 05-5209.

²The derivative actions are: (1) Huston v. Brooks, et al., CV 05-4345; (2) Abrams v. Brooks, et al., CV 05-4592; (3) Lemon Bay Partners LLP v. Brooks, et al., CV 05-4951; and (4) Viray v. Brooks, CV 05-5194.

Reform Act of 1995 (“PSLRA”), 15 U.S.C. §§ 78j(b) and 78t(a)-1, and Securities and Exchange Commission Rule 10b-5, 17 C.F.R. § 240.10b-5.³ The allegations in the derivative complaints arise from the same conduct complained of in the class action suits, and the derivative plaintiffs claim that the breaches of fiduciary duty caused substantial losses to DHB and damaged its reputation and goodwill.

On November 7, 2005, the plaintiff in one derivative action and the plaintiffs in one class action each filed a motion for a temporary restraining order imposing a constructive trust over the defendants’ alleged insider trading proceeds and bonuses. On November 9, 2005, Judge Seybert issued an order denying both motions. At that time, Judge Seybert referred several pending matters to the undersigned for a Report and Recommendation, including: (1) the motions for a preliminary injunction; (2) the motions to consolidate; and (3) the motions to appoint lead plaintiff and lead counsel. The parties were also directed to appear before the undersigned to discuss any discovery issues related to the motions for a preliminary injunction.

A conference was held before the undersigned on November 14, 2005. Prior to the conference, nine motions to appoint a lead plaintiff or lead plaintiffs and lead counsel had been filed. Following the conference, four groups of proposed lead plaintiffs withdrew their motions for the appointment of lead plaintiffs and lead counsel, and two groups who had previously filed separate motions combined their motions. Accordingly, this Report addresses the motions to consolidate, the four remaining motions to appoint lead plaintiff(s) and lead counsel in the class actions, and the two motions to appoint a representative plaintiff and lead counsel in the derivative actions.⁴

DISCUSSION

I. Consolidation

A. Consolidation of the Class Actions

Securities fraud class actions are governed by, inter alia, the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (the “Exchange Act”), and the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (the “PSLRA”), which amended the Exchange Act. The PSLRA dictates that prior to the appointment of a lead plaintiff, the Court must decide whether or not to consolidate the actions. See 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(ii). Under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 42(a), actions may be consolidated when they involve a common question of law or fact. Rule 42(a), Fed. R. Civ. P. “[C]ourts have taken the view that considerations of judicial economy favor consolidation.” Johnson v. Celotex Corp., 899 F.2d 1281, 1284-85 (2d Cir. 1990), cert. denied, 498 U.S. 920, 111 S. Ct. 297, 112 L. Ed. 2d 250 (1990). In securities actions, “where the complaints are based on the same ‘public statements and reports’ consolidation is appropriate if there are common questions of law and fact and the defendants will not be prejudiced.” In re Olsten Corp. Sec. Litig., 3 F. Supp. 2d 286, 293 (E.D.N.Y. 1998).

Here, all of the plaintiffs agree that the class actions should be consolidated, and the defendants take no position on the issue. All of the actions assert claims on behalf of the purchasers and acquirers of DHB securities for alleged violations of the Exchange Act during the same time period. All of the complaints name DHB and certain of its officers and/or directors as defendants, and all of the complaints involve the same factual and legal issues. Accordingly, the test for consolidation set forth in Rule 42(a) has been met, and I recommend that the fourteen class actions be consolidated under the caption In Re DHB Industries, Inc. Securities Litigation, and that all documents related to this action be filed under case number CV 05-4296.

B. Consolidation of the Derivative Actions

As with securities class actions, consolidation of related shareholder derivative actions is appropriate under Rule 42(a) when the actions involve common questions of law and fact. See MacAlister v. Guterma, 263 F. 2d 65, 68 (2d Cir. 1958) (stating that consolidation of derivative lawsuits and the appointment of counsel “may in many instances prove the only effective means of channeling the efforts of counsel along constructive lines”). All of the plaintiffs in the derivative actions argue that the derivative actions should be consolidated, and the defendants take no position on the issue. Each of the derivative complaints asserts claims by a DHB shareholder on behalf of DHB, and alleges that defendants’ breaches of their fiduciary duties caused substantial losses to DHB. I agree that consolidation of these actions is proper under Rule 42(a) and will promote efficient litigation.

The derivative plaintiffs contend that the derivative actions should not, however, be consolidated with the class action. The class plaintiffs take no position on the issue. The derivative plaintiffs assert that, despite some similarity, the derivative actions and securities fraud class actions do not involve common questions of law and fact such that the actions should be consolidated under Rule 42(a). (Mem. of Law in Supp. of Pl. Huston’s Mot. to Consolidate All Related Shareholder Derivative Actions and Appoint a Leadership Structure for Pls. (“Huston Mem.”), at 3-5; Pl. Brian Abrams’s Mem. in Supp. of his Mot. to Consolidate the Related Shareholder Derivative Actions and Appoint Lead Counsel for Pls. (“Abrams Mem.”), at 12-13); Derivative Pl. Lemon Bay Partners LLP’s Mem. of Law Regarding Consolidation and Appointment of a Pls.’ Lead Counsel Structure (“Lemon Bay Mem.”), at 2-4.) Specifically, the derivative plaintiffs argue that (1) the class action is subject to the PSLRA, whereas derivative actions are not; (2) the class action plaintiffs are required to undertake the class certification process, whereas the derivative plaintiffs are not; (3) the derivative action will likely require the Court to perform a demand futility analysis as to whether a demand on DHB’s board of directors would have been futile based upon the facts alleged in the derivative complaint, an issue which is irrelevant to the class action; and (4) generally, the actions will involve some different discovery and testimony, particularly because the class action plaintiffs must demonstrate the defendants’ intent to make false and misleading statements, whereas the derivative plaintiffs must prove that the defendants failed to fulfill their fiduciary obligations, regardless of intent. (Huston Mem. at 4; Abrams Mem. at 13.) The derivative plaintiffs also contend that the different interests represented by the plaintiffs in the class action, who have named the corporation as a defendant, and the plaintiffs in the derivative action, who are suing on behalf of the corporation, present a potential conflict of interest that would prejudice all plaintiffs. (See e.g., Huston Mem. at 3.)

While there is no per se rule against the consolidation of direct and derivative actions and the appointment of a lead plaintiff and lead counsel for both, the court should strictly scrutinize any potential conflict which may arise from such an arrangement. Levine v. Am. Exp. Indus., Inc., 473 F. 2d 1008, 1009 (2d Cir. 1973) (dismissing the appeal of securities fraud class action plaintiffs from district court’s interlocutory order consolidating class action with derivative suits, but noting that “[i]n the event that a conflict of interest looms upon the horizon, the appointment of separate counsel for each group (class and derivative plaintiffs) may well be advisable”); Ryan v. Aetna Life Ins. Co., 765 F. Supp. 133, 135 (S.D.N.Y. 1991). In particular, some courts have questioned how an attorney can properly represent the interests of a corporation and its shareholders in a derivative action while simultaneously representing the interest of shareholders in a class action against the corporation, because the two groups of clients have potentially conflicting interests. Koenig v. Benson, 117 F.R.D. 330, 334 (E.D.N.Y. 1987) (citing Stull v. Baker, 410 F. Supp. 1326, 1336-37 (S.D.N.Y. 1976); Ruggiero v. Am. Bioculture, Inc., 56 F.R.D. 93, 95 (S.D.N.Y. 1972) (additional citations omitted)). See also Kamerman v. Steinberg, 113 F.R.D. 511, 516 (S.D.N.Y. 1986) (“Prosecution of both a derivative and class action by plaintiffs. . .presents an impermissible conflict of interest. . .”). In a stockholder’s derivative suit, unlike in a class action, the stockholder has no claim of his own, “he merely has a personal controversy with his corporation regarding the business wisdom or legal basis for the latter’s assertion of a claim against third parties. Whatever money or property is to be recovered would go to the corporation, not a fraction of it to the stockholder.” Papilsky v. Berndt, 466 F.2d 251, 255 (2d Cir. 1972). Accordingly, courts in this jurisdiction generally do not consolidate securities fraud class actions with related derivative actions. See, e.g., In re Computer Assocs. 2002 Class Action Sec. Litig., CV 02-1226 (E.D.N.Y. July 25, 2002) and Computer Assocs. Int’l, Inc., Derivative Litig., CV 04-2697 (E.D.N.Y. October 19, 2004); In re NBTY, Inc. Sec. Litig., CV 04-2619 (March 17, 2005) and In re NBTY, Inc. Derivative Litig., CV 04-2876 (E.D.N.Y. Oct. 5, 2004).

Thus, I recommend that the derivative actions be consolidated with one another under the caption In Re DHB Industries, Inc. Derivative Litigation, and that all documents related to this action be filed under case number CV 05-4345. I do not recommend, however, that the derivative action be consolidated with the class action. At the initial conference, the parties should be prepared, however, to address the issue of consolidation for purposes to further the interests of economy and efficiency.

II. Appointment of Lead Plaintiffs and Lead Counsel

A. Lead Plaintiffs and Lead Counsel in the Class Action

The four pending motions to appoint lead plaintiff(s) and lead counsel in the class action lawsuits are as follows:

- (1) Motion by “Fuller & Thaler” (comprised of Fuller & Thaler Asset Management, Inc.), alleging losses in the amount of $640,580.00, to appoint Fuller & Thaler as lead plaintiff and the firm of Bernstein Liebhard & Lifshitz, LLP as lead counsel;
- (2) Motion by the “DHB Lead Plaintiff Group” (comprised of Jon Albinson, Mitchell Cohen, Herb Hertner, Son Dinh and Lon Worth Crow IV), alleging losses in the amount of $858,182.14, to appoint the DHB Lead Plaintiff Group as lead plaintiff and the firms of Milberg Weiss Bershad & Schulman LLP and Chitwood Harley Harnes LLP as co-lead counsel;
- (3) Motion by the “DHB Investor Group” (comprised of Andrew Benavides, Gordon Dole and James Bates), alleging losses in the amount of $1,132, 892.99, to appoint the DHB Investor Group as lead plaintiff and the firm of Scott + Scott LLC as lead counsel;

(4) Joint Motion by the DHB Industries Investors Group and the RS Holdings group, hereinafter, the “DHB Industries /RS Holdings Group” alleging losses in the amount of $3.6 million dollars, to appoint RS Holdings, NECA-IBEW Pension Fund (the “Decatur Plan”), and George Baciú, as lead plaintiffs, and the firms of Lerach Coughlin Stoa Geller Rudman & Robbins (“Lerach Coughlin”) and Labaton Sucharow & Rudoff LLP (“Labaton Sucharow”) as co-lead counsel⁵

Finally, it is noted that after the conference on November 14, 2005, three groups of plaintiffs who had filed motions to be appointed lead plaintiff and to select lead counsel

⁵ Notably, with respect to group four, despite changes in the composition of the proposed group of lead plaintiffs made following the November 14, 2005 conference, neither the DHB Industries Investor Group nor the RS Holdings Group revised its calculation of alleged losses. In its initial moving papers, the DHB Industries Investors Group, comprised of NECA-IBEW Pension Fund (the “Decatur Plan”), George Baciú, and Brian Gordon, alleged losses of approximately $3.37 million dollars. (Declaration of Mario Alba, Jr. (“Alba Decl.”) in Support of the DHB Industries Investors Group’s Motion for Consolidation, Appointment as Lead Plaintiff and Approval of Lead Plaintiff’s Selection of Lead Co-Counsel, Exh. C.) Specifically, the DHB Industries Investors Group alleged that member NECA-IBEW Pension Fund lost $32,254.26, member George Baciú lost $2,125,056.50, and member Brian Gordon lost $1,216,785.58. The revised proposed order filed jointly by the DHB Industries Investors Group and the RS Holdings Group, however, makes no mention of Brian Gordon. (Stipulation and [Proposed] Order on Consolidation of Related Actions, Appointment as Lead Plaintiff and Approval of Proposed Lead Plaintiff’s Selection of Lead Counsel (“Proposed Order”), ¶ 9) (“RS Holdings LLC, the Decatur Plan, and George Baciú are hereby appointed lead plaintiffs in the Consolidated Action.”).

Similarly, in its initial moving papers, the RS Holdings Group, comprised of Robino Stortini Holdings, LLC (“RS Holdings”), William Chaplin, Mr. & Mrs. Eberhard W. Pfaller, and Harvey Schefren, alleged losses of approximately 2.26 million dollars. Specifically, the RS Holdings Group alleges that member RS Holdings lost $1,443,167.36, member William Chaplin lost $287,399.00, members Mr. & Mrs. Eberhard W. Pfaller lost $304,875.00, and member Harvey Schefren lost $229,401.00. The revised proposed order filed jointly by the RS Holdings Group and the DHB Industries Investors Group, however, only mentions RS Holdings as a proposed lead plaintiff. (Proposed Order, ¶ 9) (“RS Holdings LLC, the Decatur Plan, and George Baciú are hereby appointed lead plaintiffs in the Consolidated Action.”).

withdrew their motions: (1) Michael Kantrowitz and David Parnigan (who allege losses in the amount of $695,467.00); (2) the “Laustsen Investors Group” (who allege losses in the amount of $729, 944), and (3) the “Dyer Group” (who allege losses in the amount of $521,703.88). These three groups state that they do not oppose the motion submitted by the DHB Industries Investors Group (which, at the time of their withdrawal, had not yet joined with the RS Holdings Group), but reserve their rights to present themselves as substitute lead plaintiffs if the DHB Industries Investors Group is not appointed lead plaintiff.

As soon as practicable after reaching a decision on consolidation, a Court must appoint a lead plaintiff or plaintiffs. 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(iii). The PSLRA, which altered the procedures for bringing a class action under federal securities law, sets forth a detailed procedure for the selection of a lead plaintiff or plaintiffs to oversee securities class actions brought pursuant to the federal securities law. See 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(1) and (a)(3)(B)(I). See also H.R. Rep. No. 104-369, at 32 (1995), reprinted in 1996 U.S.C.C.A.N. at 731 (Congress enacted the PSLRA to eliminate the plaintiffs’ lawyers’ race to the courthouse and to instead “increase the likelihood that parties with significant holdings in issuers, whose interests are more strongly aligned with the class of shareholders, will participate in the litigation and exercise control over the selection and actions of plaintiffs counsel.”)

The PSLRA provides that first, the plaintiff who files the initial action must within twenty days of filing the action publish a notice informing class members of their right to file a motion for appointment as lead plaintiff. 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(A)(I). Here, the relevant notice was published on Business Wire on September 9, 2005.⁶ The PSLRA next provides that within sixty days after publication of the required notice, any person or group of persons who are members of the proposed class may apply to the Court to be appointed lead plaintiff or lead plaintiffs, whether or not they previously filed a complaint in the action. 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(A) and (B). Here, all of the motions to be appointed lead plaintiff or lead plaintiffs have been timely filed. The PSLRA further requires the Court to appoint lead plaintiff within ninety days after publication of the initial notice of pendency. See 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B). In determining who is the “most adequate plaintiff,” the PSLRA states:

[T]he court shall adopt a presumption that the most adequate plaintiff in any private action arising under this title is the person or group of persons that—

(aa) has either filed the complaint or made a motion in response to a notice. . .

(bb) in the determination of the court, has the largest financial interest in the relief sought by the class; and

(cc) otherwise satisfies the requirements of Rule 23 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(iii)(I). “Congress ‘intend[ed] that the lead plaintiff provision will encourage institutional investors to take a more active role in securities class action lawsuits.’”

In re Oxford Health Plans, Inc., Sec. Litig., 182 F.R.D. 42, 45 (S.D.N.Y. 1998) (quoting H.R. Rep. No. 104-369 at 34 (1995) (reprinted in 1996 U.S.C.C.A.N. 730)).

The presumption that a proposed plaintiff who meets the statutory requirements is the ⁶The first action against DHB, Yeroushalami, et al. v. DHB Industries, Inc. et al., CV 05-4296, was filed on September 9, 2005.

most adequate plaintiff may only be rebutted by proof of a member of the purported plaintiff class that the presumptively most adequate plaintiff “will not fairly and adequately represent the members of the class,” or “is subject to unique defenses that render such plaintiff incapable of adequately representing the class.” 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(iii)(II). Here, all of the moving parties have either filed a complaint or motion in response to the notice, and all have filed affidavits detailing their respective financial interests in the relief sought by the class.

In addition to filing a complaint or a motion in response to a notice and possessing the largest financial interest in the relief sought, the lead plaintiff or plaintiffs must otherwise satisfy the requirements of Federal Rule of Procedure 23: (1) numerosity; (2) commonality; (3) adequacy; and (4) typicality. Rule 23(a), Fed. R. Civ. P. District courts in the Second Circuit have noted, however, that of the four Rule 23 requirements, “only adequacy and typicality come into play when determining an lead plaintiff under the PSLRA.” In Re Star Gas Sec. Litig., No. 3:04cv1766, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5827, at *9 (D. Conn. April 8, 2005) (citing Constance Sczeny Trust v. KPMG, LLP, 223 F.R.D. 319, 324 (S.D.N.Y. 2004), In re Oxford Health Plans, Inc., Sec. Litig., 182 F.R.D. 42, 50 (S.D.N.Y. 1998), appeal dismissed sub nom. Metro Servs. Inc. v. Wiggins, 158 F.3d 162 (2d Cir. 1998)).

Typicality, as required by Rule 23(a)(3), exists if the claims arise “from the same course of events, and each class member makes similar legal arguments to prove the defendant’s liability.” In re Drexel Burnham Lambert Group, Inc., 960 F.2d 285, 291 (2d Cir. 1992), cert. dismissed, 506 U.S. 1088 (1993). In this instance, all of the moving plaintiffs claim that they purchased or acquired DHB securities during a specific time period, paid inflated prices, and suffered damages. The common legal theory is a breach of Sections 10(b) and 20(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. §§ 78j(b) and 78t(a), and Rule 10b-5.

Thus, for the present purposes, all of the movants appear to be typical members of the class, and typicality is not disputed among the competing movants.

Adequacy of representation, as required by Rule 23(a)(4), requires that the representative party fairly and adequately represent the interests of the class. In conducting this inquiry, the court examines whether there are any conflicts between the interests of the proposed lead plaintiffs and the members of the class, and whether class counsel is “‘qualified, experienced and generally able’ to conduct the litigation.” Id. at 291 (quoting Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacquelin, 391 F.2d 555, 562 (2d Cir. 1968)). Here, all of the movants have demonstrated that their interests are aligned with those of the class, and all movants have proposed the appointment of class counsel who are qualified and experienced. The adequacy of the proposed lead plaintiffs is not disputed among competing movants.

Indeed, the factor that most significantly distinguishes the proposed lead plaintiffs, and the factor the Court is directed to consider under 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(iii)(I), is the financial relief sought by each movant, based on the proposed lead plaintiffs’ amount of alleged loss. Here, the members of the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group allege losses in the amount of approximately $3.36 million dollars. As the group with the greatest alleged losses, the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group is presumptively the most adequate plaintiff under the PSLRA. 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(iii)(I). Of the three other movants, neither the DHB Lead Plaintiff Group, alleging losses in the amount of $858,182.14, nor the DHB Investor Group, alleging losses in the amount of $1,132, 892.99, filed opposition to the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group motion, thereby failing to rebut the statutory presumption in favor of the DHB

Industries/RS Holdings Group.⁷

The only group to file opposition to the motion by the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group is Fuller & Thaler. Fuller & Thaler, an independent investment advisory firm, contends that courts have noted a Congressional preference for the appointment of institutional investors as lead plaintiffs in securities class actions, and that it is the institutional investor who has suffered the largest loss (over $640,000). (Mem. of Law in Supp. of the Mot. of Fuller & Thaler Asset Management, Inc. for Consolidation, Appointment as Lead Plaintiff and Approval of Selection of Lead Counsel, and in Opposition to All Competing Motions (“Fuller & Thaler Mem. in Opp’n”), at 3-6.) Fuller & Thaler argues that because RS Holdings, which states that it is an institutional investor with losses in the amount of $1.44 million, is a portfolio managed for the family and friends of the Frank Robino Companies, LLC, it is “not truly an institutional investor.” (Id. at 6.) Fuller & Thaler also argues that the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group is a lawyer-driven group, lacking cohesion, cobbled together to manufacture the largest financial interest in the action, and should therefore be rejected as lead plaintiff. (Id. at 7, noting that one of the principal purposes of the PSLRA was to prevent lawyer-driven litigation; see also Reply Mem. of Law in Further Supp. of the Motion of Fuller & Thaler Asset Management, Inc. for Consolidation, Appointment as Lead Plaintiff and Approval of Selection of Lead Counsel, and in Further Opposition to All Competing Motions (“Fuller & Thaler Reply Mem.”), at 2-3.) Finally, Fuller & Thaler argues that, unlike RS Holdings, it has overseen sizable recoveries as lead plaintiff in several securities class actions. (Fuller & Thaler Mem. in Opp'n, at 6, citing five securities class actions with which it has been involved.)

The DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group disputes each of Fuller & Thaler's contentions. It argues that RS Holdings is an institutional investor that, like Fuller & Thaler, invests millions of dollars in assets on behalf of individuals and businesses that invest in its fund. (Mem. of Points and Authorities in Response to the Opposition Memorandum Filed by Fuller & Thaler Asset Management Concerning the Motions for Consolidation, Appointment as Lead Plaintiff and Approval of Lead Plaintiff's Selection of Lead Counsel ("DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group Mem."), at 2.) Fuller & Thaler's argument that RS Holdings is not an institutional investor simply because it is managed for individuals associated with one company is not persuasive. The DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group further argues that not only does the group include the institutional investor with the largest financial interest—RS Holdings, with an alleged approximate loss of $1.44 million— it also includes George Baciu, an individual whose alleged losses in the amount of approximately $2.1 million dollars represent the single largest financial interest of all the movants. (Id. at 2-3.) Finally, the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group argues that both NECA-IBEW and RS Holdings have experience serving as lead plaintiffs in securities class actions (Id. at 3, citing Certification of Michael Stortini, Principal of RS Holdings, ¶ 5 (citing one case in which RS Holdings was appointed as lead plaintiff); Certification of NECA-IBEW, ¶ 5 (citing three cases in which NECA-IBEW was appointed as lead plaintiff). The DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group's briefs and affidavits support these arguments.

Accordingly, I find that Fuller & Thaler has not sufficiently rebutted the statutory presumption in favor of the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group, as the group with the largest financial loss, and presumed to be the most adequate plaintiff. In its attempt to rebut this presumption, Fuller & Thaller did not offer convincing proof that the DHB Industries/ RS Holdings Group will fail to fairly and adequately represent the class. I find, rather, that the DHB Industries/RS Holdings Group, comprised of the institutional investor with the largest loss (RS Holdings), the individual investor with the largest loss (George Baciú), and a pension fund (NECA-IBEW), will effectively represent the interests of the class, as well as fulfill the purpose of the PSLRA. See In re Oxford Health Plans, Inc., Sec. Litig., 182 F.R.D. 42, 46 (S.D.N.Y. 1998) (appointing as lead plaintiffs in a securities class action two institutional investors and a group of three individuals, noting that the appointment of institutional investors is specifically encouraged by the PSLRA, and the scope of the individuals' losses makes the individuals an effective monitor of its counsels' performance).

Based on the foregoing, I recommend that RS Holdings, NECA-IBEW Pension Fund (the "Decatur Group"), and George Baciú be appointed lead plaintiffs in the consolidated class action lawsuit.

Pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(v), the lead plaintiff shall, subject to court approval, select and retain counsel to represent the class it seeks to represent. 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(a)(3)(B)(v). The court's role is generally limited to approving or disapproving lead plaintiff's choice of counsel. In Re Star Gas Sec. Litig., No. 3:04cv1766, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 5827, at *9-10 (D. Conn. April 8, 2005) (citations omitted). Both Lerach Coughlin and Labaton Sucharow, the firms selected by RS Holdings, NECA-IBEW Pension Fund, and George Baciú, appear qualified to capably represent the plaintiffs in the class action litigation. Accordingly, I recommend that the firms of Lerach Coughlin and Labaton Sucharow be appointed as co-lead counsel in this action.

B. Representative Plaintiff and Lead Counsel in the Derivative Action

The two pending motions to appoint a representative plaintiff and lead counsel in the derivative actions are as follows:

(1) Motion by Thomas Huston (“Huston”) to be named representative plaintiff and to appoint the Law Offices of Thomas G. Amon and the law firm of Robbins Umeda & Fink, LLP (“Robbins Umeda”) as Co-Lead Counsel

(2) Motion by Brian Abrams (“Abrams”) to appoint the law firm of Wechsler Harwood LLP (“Wechsler Harwood”) as Lead Counsel

On December 15, 2005, plaintiff Alvin Viray withdrew his previously submitted motion and declared support in favor of the appointment of Huston as lead plaintiff and the Law Offices of Thomas G. Amon and the firm of Robbins Umeda as co-lead counsel. (Reply Mem. of Law in Supp. of Pl. Viray’s Mot. to Consolidate Related Shareholder Derivative Actions and Appoint a Leadership Structure for Pls. (“Viray Mem.”), at 4.) On November 28, 2005, plaintiff Lemon Bay Partners LLP, which had not previously filed a motion for appointment of lead plaintiff or lead counsel, submitted support in favor of Wechsler Harwood as lead counsel. Both Huston and Abrams oppose each others’ motions.⁸

⁸By letter dated December 21, 2005, counsel for Abrams took the unusual step of submitting the transcript of oral argument before the Honorable Walker D. Miller of the United States District Court, District of Colorado, wherein Judge Miller selected Wechsler Harwood as lead counsel over Robbins Umeda in a derivative action. (Letter from Samuel K. Rosen to the undersigned, dated December 21, 2005.) The submission, filed after briefing had been completed and without leave of the Court, has not been afforded any weight in this Report and Recommendation. However, even if given full consideration, it would not alter the conclusion reached herein, which is based solely on the facts presented here.

1. No Appointment of Lead Plaintiff

It is noted at the outset that the derivative action is not governed by the PSLRA, which requires the Court to appoint a lead plaintiff or plaintiffs in a securities fraud class action. Rather, derivative actions must comply with Federal Rule of Procedure 23.1, which requires only that a plaintiff in a derivative action “fairly and adequately represent the interests of the shareholders or members similarly situated in enforcing the right of the corporation or association.” Rule 23.1, Fed. R. Civ. P. While Rule 23.1 does not make reference to the appointment of a lead plaintiff, presumptively because the plaintiff or plaintiffs in a derivative action are bringing claims on the company’s behalf, the Advisory Committee Notes to Rule 23.1 make clear that “[t]he court has inherent power to provide for the conduct of the proceedings in a derivative action, including the power to determine the course of the proceedings. . . .” Advisory Committee Notes to Rule 23.1, Fed. R. Civ. P. Thus, although the rule may contemplate the appointment of a “lead” or “representative” plaintiff in this action, the parties here did not provide any case law from this Circuit in support of this contention. Indeed, the preferred practice in this Court is to consolidate derivative actions and appoint lead counsel without appointing a lead or representative plaintiff. See, e.g., Computer Assocs. Int’l, Inc., Derivative Litig., CV 04-2697 (E.D.N.Y. October 19, 2004); In re NBTY, Inc. Derivative Litig., CV 04-2876 (E.D.N.Y. Oct. 5, 2004); Scalisi v. Fund Asset Mgmt., L.P., CV 02-5592 (E.D.N.Y. Jan. 31, 2003).

Further, although there appears to be no per se rule against the appointment of a lead plaintiff in cases such as this one, the Second Circuit’s discussion of the benefits of consolidation in derivative actions makes no mention of the appointment of lead plaintiff. Rather, the court notes: “An order consolidating such [derivative actions] during the pre-trial stages, together with the appointment of a general counsel, may in many instances prove the only effective means of channeling the efforts of counsel. . . .” MacAlister v. Guterman, 263 F.2d 65, 68 (2d Cir. 1958) (emphasis added). The court went on to note that the “benefits achieved by consolidation and the appointment of general counsel, i.e., elimination of duplication and repetition and in effect the creation of a coordinator of diffuse plaintiffs through whom motions and discovery proceedings will be channeled, will most certainly redound to the benefit of all parties to the litigation.” Id. at 69. In addition, the Second Circuit has emphasized that a stockholder’s derivative action “consists of only one claim– the corporate claim against the alleged wrongdoers. . . [t]his right to conscript the corporation as a complainant cannot be equated with a cause of action against the corporation. . . [r]ather than initiating a cause of action against the corporation, the plaintiff stockholder in a derivative suit is seeking to enforce, for the benefit of the corporation, a corporate claim which the corporation, for whatever reason, is unwilling to prosecute.” Papilsky v. Berndt, 466 F.2d 251, 255-56 (2d Cir. 1972), cert. denied, 409 U.S. 1077, 93 S. Ct. 689 (1972).

Accordingly, I find that the appointment of a lead plaintiff is unnecessary and inappropriate in the derivative action, and I therefore do not recommend the appointment of either Abrams or Huston as lead plaintiff. See, e.g., Computer Assocs. Int’l, Inc., Derivative Litig., CV 04-2697 (E.D.N.Y. October 19, 2004) (consolidating derivative actions and appointing lead counsel without appointing a lead plaintiff); In re NBTY, Inc. Derivative Litig., CV 04-2876 (E.D.N.Y. Oct. 5, 2004) (same); Scalisi v. Fund Asset Mgmt., L.P., CV 02-5592 (E.D.N.Y. Jan. 31, 2003) (same). I instead recommend that lead counsel be charged with the orderly and efficient prosecution of the action on behalf of all the stockholders.

2. Appointment of Lead Counsel

Two motions seeking the appointment of lead counsel remain pending before the Court. The Law Office of Thomas G. Amon and the firm of Robbins Umeda Fink, LLP (“Robbins Umeda”) (representing plaintiff Huston) have filed a motion to be appointed co-lead counsel, and the firm of Wechsler Harwood LLP (“Wechsler Harwood”) (representing plaintiff Abrams) has also filed a motion seeking lead counsel designation. Both moving parties rely primarily on the same three district court cases, from outside Circuits, which set forth the standards some courts have used in determining lead counsel. (Abrams Mem. at 9-10; Huston Mem. at 2-3.) In the cited cases, the court considered: (1) the quality of the pleadings; (2) the vigorousness of the prosecution of the lawsuits; and (3) the capability of counsel. Millan v. Brinkley, 2004 WL 228505, at *3-4 (N.D. Ga. Oct. 1, 2004); Dollens v. Zions, 2001 WL 1543524, at *4 (N.D. Ill. Dec. 4, 2001); TCW Tech. Ltd. P’ship v. Intermedia Commc’ns, 2000 WL 1654504, at *4 (Del Ch. Oct. 17, 2000). Both parties additionally suggest that the court take into consideration factors more typically considered in the context of the appointment of a lead plaintiff in a class action, such as the number, size, and extent of involvement of represented litigants, the advanced stage of the proceeding, and the nature of the causes of action alleged. (Abrams Mem. at 10; Huston Mem. at 7.) At least one district court in this circuit, however, has discouraged the reliance on analogy to class actions, stating that “[d]ifferences between derivative and class actions, however, make clear that some factors used to evaluate class representatives are irrelevant when shareholders litigate for a corporation’s benefit.” Schneider v. Austin, 94 F.R.D. 44, 46 (S.D.N.Y. 1982).

Courts in this Circuit typically review a derivative plaintiff's adequacy under Rule 23.1 upon the filing of a dispositive motion by a defendant, and have developed an analysis which is useful for the present purposes. In Sweet v. Bermingham, a leading case, the court reviewed a motion to dismiss based on the ground that the plaintiff did not fairly and adequately represent the interests of the other shareholders. Id. The court there held that when a derivative plaintiff demonstrates to the court an intent and desire to vigorously prosecute the underlying corporate claim and when he has engaged competent counsel to assist in that endeavor, then, absent either a conflict of interest which goes to the forcefulness of the prosecution or the existence of antagonism between the plaintiff and other shareholders arising from differences of opinion concerning the best method of vindicating the corporate claim, the representation requirement of Rule 23.1 is met.

Sweet v. Bermingham, 65 F.R.D. 551, 554 (S.D.N.Y. 1975).

Thus, the “‘fair and adequate representative’ inquiry focuses on the degree of certainty that a derivative plaintiff will vigorously prosecute the corporate claim in the interest of the minority stockholders.” Cohen v. Bloch, 507 F. Supp. 321, 324 (S.D.N.Y. 1980). Further, “an essential concomitant of adequate representation is that the party’s attorney be qualified, experienced, and generally able to conduct the proposed litigation.” Sweet, 65 F.R.D. at 555 n.4 (citing Eisen v. Carlisle & Jacquelin, 391 F. 2d 555, 562 (2d Cir. 1968)). In sum, in determining whether a particular plaintiff is capable of maintaining a shareholders’ derivative action, courts have required that the representative plaintiff demonstrate: “(1) a desire to vigorously prosecute the underlying corporate claim, (2) engagement of competent counsel to assist in that endeavor, and (3) absence of ‘either a conflict of interest which goes to the forcefulness of the prosecution or the existence of antagonism between the plaintiff and other shareholders arising from differences of opinion concerning the best method of vindicating the corporate claims.’” Zamer

v. Diliddo, No. 97-CV-32S, 1999 WL 606731, at * 4 (W.D.N.Y. March 23, 1999) (citing Sweet, 65 F.R.D. at 554 (additional citations omitted)).

Upon taking these factors into consideration, plaintiff Huston and his counsel from the Law Offices of Thomas G. Amon and the firm of Robbins Umeda have the edge. Plaintiff Huston and his counsel demonstrated a desire to vigorously prosecute the underlying claim by filing a declaration by Huston personally attesting to his willingness to take an active roll in this litigation (plaintiff Abrams filed no such declaration). (See Huston Declaration.) Further, plaintiff Huston was the first of the derivative plaintiffs to file his complaint, which, while not a dispositive factor, merits consideration where, as here, both movants appear to be capable of fairly and adequately representing the shareholders. See Biondy v. Scrushy, 820 A.2d 1148, 1159 (Del. Ch. 2003) (the “first-filed factor typically becomes decisively important only when: (1) a consideration of other relevant factors does not tilt heavily in either direction and there is a need for an objective tie-breaker. . . .”). See also Armstrong v. Doyle, 20 Misc. 2d 1087, 1088-89 (N.Y. Sup. Ct. 1959) (noting that in designating lead counsel in a derivative action, the court should consider the “wishes of the one who first brought suit,” while ultimately making its decision on the basis of the competency and experience of the attorneys). Plaintiff Huston and his diligent counsel also amended Huston’s complaint upon the discovery of a waiver signed by defendant Hatfield, wherein she allegedly constructively acknowledged that the DHB vests containing Zylon failed to meet the Marine Corp’s minimum test standards. (Huston Mem. at 9; see also Huston Verified Amended Shareholder Deriv. Compl. and Jury Demand (“Huston Am. Compl.”), Exh. A.) Huston alleges that on the day before and the day after this waiver, the defendants sold over $83 million in company stock, before the truth regarding the defects in the DHB vests was revealed to the public. (Huston Am. Compl. ¶¶ 6-7, 78(a)(vii).) As noted by Huston, Abrams' complaint makes no mention of this potentially significant piece of evidence.

For the foregoing reasons, the Court is satisfied that Huston and his legal team will diligently pursue this derivative action on behalf of the DHB shareholders. The legal team assembled—consisting of two law firms—the Law Offices of Thomas Amon and the firm of Robbins Umeda—have extensive experience in class actions and in pursuing shareholder derivative actions in New York and elsewhere in the state and federal court across the country.⁹ (See Declaration of Thomas G. Amon in Support of Pl. Huston's Mot. to Consolidate All Related Shareholder Derivative Actions and Appoint a Leadership Structure for Plaintiffs, at 1-3.)

Accordingly, I recommend that the Law Offices of Thomas Amon and the firm of Robbins Umeda be appointed co-lead counsel in the derivative action.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing, I recommend that the fifteen class action lawsuits be consolidated under the caption In Re DHB Industries, Inc. Securities Litigation, CV 05-4296, and that the four related derivative actions be consolidated under the caption In Re DHB Industries, Inc. Derivative Litigation, CV 05-4345. I further recommend that RS Holdings, NECA-IBEW Pension Fund (the "Decatur Group"), and George Baciú be appointed lead plaintiffs in the class action, and that the law firms Lerach Coughlin Stoia Geller Rudman & Robbins, LLP and Labaton Sucharow & Rudoff LLP as co-lead counsel be approved. I also recommend that Law Offices of Thomas Amon and the firm of Robbins Umeda & Fink, LLP be appointed co-lead counsel in the derivative action.

OBJECTIONS TO THIS REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Any objections to this Report and Recommendation must be filed with the Clerk of the Court with a copy to the undersigned within ten (10) days of the date of this report. Failure to file objections within ten (10) days will preclude further appellate review of the District Court's order. 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); FED. R. CIV. P. 6(a), and 72(b); IUE AFL-CIO Pension Fund v. Herrmann, 9 F.3d 1049, 1054 (2d Cir. 1993), cert. denied, 506 U.S. 1038 (1992); Small v. Sec'y of Health and Human Servs., 892 F.2d 15, 16 (2d Cir. 1989) (per curiam).

INTRODUCTION

Proposed Lead Plaintiff, C. Kenneth Coulter, respectfully submits this Memorandum of Law in support of his Motion for: (1) consolidation, (2) appointment of Interim Lead Plaintiff and Interim Co-Lead counsel; and (3) entry of [Proposed] Pre-trial Order No. 1 (the “Proposed Order”).

Plaintiff Coulter initiated one of the three above-captioned actions filed to date in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York against Morgan Stanley and Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. (collectively, “Morgan Stanley” or “the Company”) and related fiduciaries on behalf of participants in, and beneficiaries of, the Morgan Stanley 401(k) Plan (“401(k) Plan”) and the Morgan Stanley Employee Stock Ownership Plan (“ESOP”) (collectively, the “Plans”).

Each action seeks relief under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”). Plaintiffs allege that Defendants breached their fiduciary duties by making and maintaining an investment in Morgan Stanley stock in the Plans when it was no longer prudent to do so. As a result, the Plans’ participants lost hundreds of millions of dollars in value from their retirement funds. Plaintiff seeks relief pursuant to Sections 409 and 502(a)(2) and (3) of ERISA, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1109 and 1132(a)(2) and (3), on behalf of the Plans for losses sustained as a result of the Defendants’ breaches of their fiduciary duties.

Plaintiff Coulter respectfully submits that he is best suited to represent the putative class because:

- He is a current participant in both the 401(k) Plan and the ESOP;
- His retirement savings are materially invested in Morgan Stanley stock and therefore, has a significant interest in pursuing this action; and

- He was employed at Morgan Stanley for over a decade, and therefore has devoted a significant portion of his career towards serving as a dedicated employee to Morgan Stanley.

Plaintiff Coulter is committed to litigating this case to recover losses suffered by participants in the Plans and understands his legal duties under ERISA to pursue such losses. Mr. Coulter has lost tens of thousands of dollars from his retirement savings. The fact that Mr. Coulter's retirement savings are invested in Morgan Stanley stock, and he suffered significant monetary damage as a result of Defendants' mismanagement of the Plans' assets, provide strong support that he will serve as a dedicated Lead Plaintiff.

Morgan Stanley was and continues to be extensively invested in Collateralized Debt Obligations ("CDOs"), Structured Investment Vehicles ("SIVs") and Conduits. Risk assessment for SIVs is particularly problematic for investors because they are off-the-balance-sheet entities, meaning that they did not have to be included on Morgan Stanley's books. Investors began to pull back from debt sold by SIVs because of their exposure to subprime mortgage securities, causing Morgan Stanley's conduits to be on the brink of collapse. Nevertheless, throughout the Class Period, Morgan Stanley represented to the participants in the Plans and the investing public that it had minimized the extent to which it was exposed to subprime credit, off-the balance sheet entities, CDOs and other credit-specific problems, and maintained that the Company was thriving. Once Morgan Stanley was forced to start revealing its grossly excessive exposure to these losses, Morgan Stanley stock began to drop precipitously. On November 7, 2007, Morgan Stanley issued a press release announcing significant declines in the fair value of subprime related exposure and recorded a breathtaking $3.7 billion write-down. After Morgan Stanley stock hit a 52-week low on November 21, 2007, the Company announced the termination of its Co-President Zoe Cruz. Since the start of the Class Period, Morgan Stanley has taken write-downs totaling a staggering $9.4 billion related to its mortgage operation.

As a result of the foregoing, Defendants knew or should have known that during the Class Period Morgan Stanley stock was an imprudent investment for the Plans due to the fact that Morgan Stanley was so heavily exposed to losses relating to its subprime mortgage securitizations business.

The plaintiffs in this case are employees or former employees of Morgan Stanley who participated in the Plans. They entrusted their retirement savings to the fiduciaries of the Plans. The fiduciaries of the Plans invested the Plans' assets, and thereby, the employee participants' retirement savings, in Morgan Stanley stock despite the fact that they knew or should have known that the Company stock would drastically decline in value due to Morgan Stanley's exposure to subprime mortgage securities.

Upon information and belief, Morgan Stanley regularly communicated with employees, including the Plans' participants, about the Company's performance, future financial and business prospects, and Morgan Stanley stock. During the Class Period, upon information and belief, the Company fostered a positive attitude toward Morgan Stanley stock as a viable investment for the Plans, and/or allowed the Plans' participants to follow their natural bias toward remaining invested in the stock of their employer, even after divestiture was possible, by not disclosing negative material information concerning investment in Morgan Stanley stock. According to the Complaint, the Plans' participants could not appreciate the true risks presented by investments in Morgan Stanley stock and therefore, could not make informed decisions regarding their investments in the Plans.

To promote judicial economy, the Court may consolidate the ERISA cases and appoint an interim lead plaintiff and class counsel. Plaintiff has claims typical of the class and has no conflicts in his ability to vigorously prosecute this case.

In determining the appointment of class counsel, Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(1)(A) provides that the Court must consider: (i) the work counsel has done in identifying or investigating potential claims in the action; (ii) counsel's experience in handling class actions, other complex litigation, and the types of claims asserted in the action; (iii) counsel's knowledge of the applicable law; and (iv) the resources counsel will commit to representing the class.

Milberg Weiss LLP ("Milberg Weiss") and Harwood Feffer LLP ("Harwood Feffer"), experienced ERISA class action firms, continue to dedicate substantial time and resources to advancing Plaintiff's case. Furthermore, Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer have obtained extremely valuable recoveries in other ERISA class action matters and have a close working relationship, as the firms have served as co-lead counsel in other ERISA breach of fiduciary duty class actions, including In re Royal Dutch/Shell Transport ERISA Litig., No. 04-1398-JWB-SDW (D.N.J. filed Mar. 25, 2004), where the firms achieved a settlement for plan members in excess of $90 million, representing one of the largest recoveries ever under ERISA.

Currently, Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer are co-lead counsel in In re Boston Scientific Corp. ERISA Litig., No. 06-CV-10105-JLT (D. Mass. filed Jan. 19, 2006). The two firms also presently serve as co-counsel for the plaintiff in Shanehchian v. Macy's Inc., No. 07-CV-00828 (S.D. Ohio filed Oct. 3, 2007), an action under ERISA pending in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Ohio, as well as co-counsel for the plaintiff in Hillert v. First American, Corp., No. CV07-7602 JVS (C.D. Cal. filed Nov. 20, 2007). Both firms also have extensive experience in complex, financial and fiduciary duty cases such as this one. Moreover, Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer have litigated numerous securities fraud class actions and other complex cases to successful conclusion. Accordingly, Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer respectfully submit that consolidation of the ERISA Actions, appointment of Plaintiff Coulter as Lead Plaintiff, and appointment of Harwood Feffer and Milberg Weiss as Co-Lead Counsel would best serve the interests of the proposed class of participants in and beneficiaries of the Plans, and will help promote judicial economy and efficiency.

ARGUMENT

Given the substantial similarity of the parties and claims in the above-captioned actions, Plaintiff follows the guidance of the Manual for Complex Litigation (4th ed. 2004) (“Manual”) and submits for the Court’s approval a proposed form of Proposed Order which: (1) provides for the consolidation of the ERISA Actions; (2) establishes efficient procedures for the filing and docketing of papers; (3) appoints an Interim Lead Plaintiff; (4) proposes a Co-Lead organization of plaintiff’s counsel; and (5) otherwise eliminates wasteful and duplicative litigation.

For the reasons below, Plaintiff respectfully submits that [Proposed] Pre-Trial Order No. 1 should be entered by the Court. The proposed order will promote the orderly and efficient litigation of this action in a manner consistent with the recommendations of the Manual.

I. CONSOLIDATION OF THE ERISA ACTIONS IS PROPER UNDER THE FEDERAL RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

Rule 42 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides:

When actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending before the court, it may order a joint hearing or trial of any or all the matters in issue in the actions; it may order all the actions consolidated; and it may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay.

Fed. R. Civ. P. 42(a).

Consolidation of the ERISA Actions is proper because they assert claims under ERISA against similar defendants and involve common questions of law and fact. Id.

The fiduciaries of the Plans are required to act in the best interest of the Plans’ participants. Instead, they disseminated false and misleading information to the Plans’ participants contained in company filings and press releases. This lawsuit seeks to make good to the Plans' participants losses resulting from Defendants breaches of fiduciary duties caused by the losses attributable to the precipitous decline in Morgan Stanley stock.

Consolidating the ERISA Actions will help to avoid unnecessary costs and delay by preventing duplicative efforts and allowing the court to adjudicate the relevant issues in a single proceeding. Thus, Plaintiff Coulter requests, for purposes of judicial efficiency and effective administration that the Court consolidate these and any additional class actions filed in or transferred to this District asserting claims under ERISA in connection with the above-stated allegations.

II. ORDERLY PROCEDURES FOR CAPTIONING AND FILING DOCUMENTS

The Proposed Order establishes procedures for the captioning, filing and docketing of papers in these ERISA Actions, and in any cases that may hereafter be filed in or transferred to this Court. These procedures include the establishment of a uniform caption and master docket for the filing of documents relating to the consolidated actions. Such procedures, designed to enhance efficiency, are particularly necessary and appropriate in complex class action litigation such as this. See Manual § 21.12. In addition, this type of order has been used in numerous other cases in which the ERISA cases have been consolidated.¹

III. THE PROPOSED LEADERSHIP STRUCTURE

A. Proposed Interim Lead Plaintiff

Plaintiff Coulter was a participant in the Plans throughout the Class Period. Significant portions of his retirement savings in the Plans are invested in Morgan Stanley stock as a result of the way the Plans were administered by its fiduciaries. These investments have been adversely impacted by the failure of Defendants to exercise their fiduciary duties and protect the Plans. The Plans have tens of thousands of participants who suffered tremendous losses as a result of the recent Morgan Stanley stock price collapse. On an interim basis pending class certification, Plaintiff Coulter seeks to represent the interests of all of the participants of the Plans who suffered similar losses as is required in an action on behalf of the Plans under ERISA § 502(a)(2), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(2).

B. Proposed Counsel Structure

The Proposed Order implements the procedures suggested by the Manual by designating Interim Co-Lead Counsel for plaintiffs. See Manual §§ 10.22, 40.22. As stated in the Manual, in determining lead counsel, the court should “conduct an independent review (usually a hearing is advisable) to ensure that counsel appointed to leading roles are qualified and responsible, that they will fairly and adequately represent all of the parties on their side, and that their charges will be reasonable.” Id. at § 10.22. Indeed, the most important factor is “achieving efficiency and economy without jeopardizing fairness to the parties.” Id. at § 10.221. When appointing interim lead counsel, it is “generally accepted that the considerations set out in Rule 23(g)(1)(A), which governs appointment of class counsel once a class is certified, apply equally to the designation of interim class counsel before certification.” In re Air Cargo Shipping Servs. Antitrust Litig., 240 F.R.D. 56, 57 (E.D.N.Y. 2006) (citation omitted).

Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(1)(A) specifies that in appointing class counsel, the court must consider:

- the work counsel has done in identifying or investigating potential claims in the action;
- counsel’s experience in handling class actions, other complex litigation, and claims of the type asserted in the action;

- counsel's knowledge of the applicable law; and
- the resources counsel will commit to representing the class.

Plaintiff proposes the following counsel structure, which, as described herein, satisfies the requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(1)(A):

Co-Lead Counsel

Milberg Weiss LLP
One Pennsylvania Plaza
New York, New York 10119
Telephone: (212) 594-5300
Facsimile: (212) 868-1229

Harwood Feffer LLP
488 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10022
Telephone: (212) 935-7400
Facsimile: (212) 753-3630

Plaintiff proposes that the proposed Co-Lead Counsel be appointed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(3), which provides for the designation of interim class counsel to act on behalf of a putative class before the determination of whether to certify the action as a class action.

IV. THE CO-LEADERSHIP COUNSEL STRUCTURE PROPOSED BY PLAINTIFF COULTER SATISFIES THE REQUIREMENTS OF RULE 23(G)(1)(C)(1) AND IS IN THE BEST INTERESTS IF THE PLANS' PARTICIPANTS AND BENEFICIARIES.

A. Counsel for the Plaintiff have Demonstrated a Commitment to Identifying and Investigating Potential Claims in This Action

Plaintiff Coulter's proposed Co-Leadership Counsel have taken substantial steps in identifying and investigating the claims set forth in this action. The firms' attorneys and staff (including full time private investigators, forensic accountants and financial analysts) are extensively investigating Morgan Stanley's alleged wrongdoing, reviewed court actions and pleadings, as well as media and other reports, which resulted in the filing of the complaint. In addition, as is standard practice in ERISA cases, the firms will be requesting plan documents from Morgan Stanley pursuant to ERISA § 104(b), 29 U.S.C. § 1024(b). Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer have been working co-operatively to assure that they do not duplicate each other's work and are committed to making the substantial investment of time and resources necessary to properly pursue and lead the Morgan Stanley ERISA action.

B. Counsel For Plaintiff Have Experience In Class Actions, Other Complex Litigation, and the Types of Claims Asserted In This Case, And Have Knowledge Of The Law Applicable In This Case

Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer, both highly regarded firms with significant experience in complex class actions, will adequately represent Plaintiff and the proposed Class in this action. Both firms have well-known records of successfully pursuing financial, accounting and securities fraud matters, which are highly relevant to this litigation.² Further, both firms have substantial experience in litigating ERISA 401(k) actions, and have successfully litigated numerous other class action claims based on breaches of fiduciary duty.³

Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer have each taken a leading role among law firms in pursuing employee lawsuits and ERISA violations on behalf of participants and beneficiaries in employer-sponsored benefit plans. The two firms have served or currently serve as lead or co-lead counsel in many ERISA class actions and have recovered substantial sums in these matters in addition to bringing about significant structural changes to employee benefit plans.

Notably, as discussed above, Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer served as co-lead counsel for the plaintiffs in In re Royal Dutch/Shell Transport ERISA Litig., an ERISA breach of fiduciary duty class action against the Royal Dutch/Shell Oil Group of Companies on behalf of certain of the company's U.S. employees invested in the company's stock fund. The $90 million settlement (representing approximately 78% of the class' claimed loss) is one of the largest amounts obtained in an ERISA breach of fiduciary duty case. Significantly, the settlement included important provisions that required the corporate defendants to implement structural changes, including procedures regarding the monitoring and training of individuals appointed to be ERISA fiduciaries. Moreover, at the settlement fairness hearing in August 2005, Judge Bissell of the District of New Jersey remarked on the skill and efficiency of class counsel in the prosecution of the case, commenting that:

the attorneys in the firms involved in this matter...are highly experienced and highly skilled in matters of this kind. Moreover, in this case it showed. Those efforts were vigorous, imaginative and prompt in reaching the settlement of this matter with a minimal amount of discovery So both skill and efficiency were brought to the table here by counsel, no doubt about that.

Transcript of Proceeding before Honorable John W. Bissell, In re Royal Dutch/Shell Transport ERISA Litig., No. 04-CV-1398 JWB-SDW (D.N.J. Aug. 22, 2005) see Joint Decl., Exhibit D.

Additionally, both Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer have their main offices in this District, and all the respective firms' attorneys prosecuting this action are located in this District, giving them ready access to the Court. Such a structure will serve the best interests of the Class, insofar as it will increase efficiency and reduce expenses.

1. Milberg Weiss LLP

Milberg Weiss has taken a leading role in pursuing numerous employee lawsuits and ERISA violations on behalf of participants and beneficiaries in employer-sponsored benefit plans.

By way of example, Milberg Weiss has obtained a very significant result in the In re Citigroup Pension Plan ERISA Litigation, Master File 05 Civ. 5296 (S.D.N.Y. filed June 3, 2005) (Scheindlin, J.), pending in this District before Judge Scheindlin, where Milberg Weiss serves as Co-lead counsel for the certified class. In Citigroup Pension Plan Litig., the plaintiffs allege that certain amendments to the pension plan at issue that created and revised the plan's cash balance formula, both violated age-based accrual rules for defined benefits plans as set forth in ERISA and violate the plan's provision that the rights of all employees to benefits accrual through the date of a partial termination shall be non-forfeitable. In December 2006, Judge Scheindlin granted summary judgment for the plaintiffs finding that Citigroup's pension plan violated ERISA. Specifically, the Court found that Citigroup's pension plan violated ERISA's benefit accrual rules set forth in § 204(b)(1); that Citigroup did not provide adequate notice to participants pursuant to ERISA § 204(h), which is a precondition to effective plan amendments; and that the Citigroup pension plan unlawfully discriminated on the basis of age and therefore violated ERISA's anti-discrimination provision, § 204(b)(1)(h)(i). Consequently, Judge Scheindlin ordered the defendants to reform the pension plan to comply with ERISA.⁴

Milberg Weiss also represents participants in defined contribution retirement plans in ERISA litigation involving, among others, Boston Scientific Corp. (D. Mass.), where, together with Harwood Feffer, it is Co-Lead Counsel for the class; First American, Corp. (C.D. Cal.), where again Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer jointly represent Plaintiff Hillert pending their motion for appointment as Co-Lead Counsel; General Electric (N.D.N.Y.); Macy's, Inc. (S.D. Ohio); Fremont General, Corp. (C.D. Cal.); Citigroup, Inc. (S.D.N.Y.) (Stein, J.); Citigroup Pension (pending in this District) (Scheindlin, J.); Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc. (pending in this District) (Sand, J.); and Dell, Inc. (W.D. Tex.).

Furthermore, Milberg Weiss also has substantial experience litigating cases involving the mortgage industry. For example, Milberg Weiss was appointed co-lead counsel in Kratz v.

⁴ A copy of Judge Scheindlin's decision is appended to the Joint Decl. as Exhibit E.

Beazer Homes USA Inc., No. 07-CV-00725 (N.D. Ga. filed Mar. 29, 2007) this past August. The firm is also currently involved in litigation against Countrywide, New Jersey Carpenters' Pension Fund v. Mozilo, No. BC 378319 (Cal. Super. Ct. Los Angeles County 2007), Fremont General, In Re Fremont General Corp. and New Century Mortgage Corp., Kaufman v. New Century Financial Corp., No. 07-CV-00590, (C.D. Cal. filed May 23, 2007). The familiarity with and knowledge of the mortgage industry that Milberg Weiss has obtained through investigating and litigating these cases will serve as a valuable asset to the efficient and vigorous litigation of this action.

In the past two years alone, Milberg Weiss successfully settled and received preliminary and/or final approval for settlement in many complicated class actions. For example, on December 26, 2006, Milberg Weiss settled a case against Nortel Networks Corp. for cash and stock valued at $1.32 billion. In re Nortel Networks Corp. Sec. Litig., No. 01-CV-1855 (S.D.N.Y. filed March 2, 2001) (Berman, J.). On June 16, 2006, Milberg Weiss achieved a settlement and final approval of settlement with KPMG for $225 million. Simon v. KPMG LLP, No. 05-CV-03189 (D.N.J. filed June 24, 2005). On January 10, 2007, Milberg Weiss received final court approval of a settlement with Sears for $215 million. In re Sears, Roebuck and Co. Sec. Litig., No. 02-CV-7527 (N.D. Ill. filed Oct. 18, 2002). In September 2007, Milberg Weiss settled the CMS Energy securities litigation for $200 million. Green v. CMS Energy Corp., No. 02-CV-72004 (E.D. Mich. filed May 17, 2002). Just last month, Milberg Weiss announced a settlement with Biovail Corporation for $138 million (preliminary approval pending before Judge Owen). In re Biovail Corp. Sec. Litig., No. 03-CV-8917 (S.D.N.Y. filed Nov. 12, 2003) (Owen, J.).

Significantly, on December 19, 2007, Judge Paul Barbadoro of the District of New Hampshire granted final approval of a $3.2 billion settlement of investor claims involving Tyco International, Ltd. Milberg Weiss is Co-lead counsel for plaintiffs in the Tyco litigation and worked to achieve the largest cash payment ever made by a corporate defendant in the history of U.S. securities litigation, and the second-largest auditor settlement in securities class action history. In re Tyco Sec. Litig., No. 02-md-01335 (D.N.H. filed Aug. 23, 2002).

Moreover, Milberg Weiss has achieved tremendous results litigating cases in this District. The number and names of cases that Milberg Weiss has successfully litigated in this District are too long to list here, but some recent examples of successful cases are: In re Initial Public Offering Securities Litigation, No. 01-mc-92 (S.D.N.Y. filed Aug. 9, 2001) (Scheidlin, J.); In re Nortel Networks Corp. Sec. Litig., No. 01-CV-1855 (filed March 2, 2001) (Berman, J.); In re Martha Stewart Living Omnimedia Inc., Sec. Litig., No. 02-CV-6273 (S.D.N.Y. filed Aug. 6, 2002) (Sprizzo, J.); In re Edison Schools, Inc., Sec. Litig., No. 02-CV-3692 (S.D.N.Y. filed May 15, 2002) (Sprizzo, J.); In re Vodafone Group PLC Sec. Litig., No. 02-CV-7592 (S.D.N.Y. filed Sept. 18, 2002) (Hellerstein, J.); In re Aetna Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 01-CV-9796 (S.D.N.Y. filed Nov. 6, 2001) (Katz, J.); In re ImClone Systems, Inc., Deriv. Litig., No. 02 Civ. 0163 (S.D.N.Y. filed Jan. 9, 2002) (Owen, J.); and In re Deutsche Telekom AG Sec. Litig., No. 00-CV-9475 (S.D.N.Y. filed Dec. 13, 2000) (Buchwald, J.).

The Milberg Weiss attorneys involved in this action are led by Lori G. Feldman, a partner at Milberg Weiss, who handles many ERISA class actions along with numerous complex securities and consumer fraud class actions. Ms. Feldman graduated from Albany Law School in 1990, where she served as an Executive Editor of the Albany Law Review. She has interned at the Civil Division of the United States Attorney's Office in Brooklyn, New York. Ms. Feldman is admitted to the Bars of the States of Washington and New York and federal district and appellate courts throughout the country. From 2000 through mid-2005, she served as Managing Partner of Milberg Weiss's Seattle Office. In 2002-03 and 2004-05, Ms. Feldman was named a "Rising Star of Washington Law" by her fellow practitioners in Seattle. Rising Stars are considered to be Washington's top lawyers under the age of 40. In addition to lecturing on class action practice, Ms. Feldman has served as Co-Chair of the Continuing Legal Education Committee of the Federal Bar Association for the Western District of Washington. Ms. Feldman has been invited to speak on subprime mortgage issues at upcoming continuing legal education seminars that will take place this coming March and May.

Ms. Feldman's representative recoveries exceed hundreds of millions of dollars. Besides representing the plaintiff in the instant litigation, Ms. Feldman currently represents participants of defined contribution retirement plans in ERISA litigation involving, among others, In re General Electric Corp. ERISA Litigation, No. 06-CV-315 (N.D.N.Y. filed Mar. 16, 2006), In re Fremont General Corp. Litigation, No. 07-CV-02693 (C.D. Cal. filed Apr. 24, 2007), In re Dell Inc. ERISA Litigation, No. 06-CV-00758 (W.D. Tex. filed Sept. 25, 2006), Shanehchian v. Macy's Inc., No. 07-CV-00828 (S.D. Ohio filed Oct. 3, 2007), Hillert v. First American Corp., No. No. CV07-7602 JVS (C.D. Cal. filed Nov. 20, 2007), Stevens v. Citigroup, Inc., No. 07-CV-11156 (S.D.N.Y. filed Dec. 11, 2007) (Stein, J.), Eastman v. Merrill Lynch & Co., Inc., No. 08-CV-00058 (S.D.N.Y. filed Jan. 4, 2008) (Sand, J.), and In Re Boston Scientific Corp., No. 06-CV-10105 (D. Mass. filed Jan. 19, 2006). Ms. Feldman also maintains an extensive securities fraud class action practice.

2. Harwood Feffer LLP

Like Milberg Weiss, Harwood Feffer has also been designated as lead, co-lead or special counsel in numerous complex federal securities matters, shareholder derivative actions, and various transactional and consumer matters. Courts have often recognized Harwood Feffer's skill in class actions. For example, in In re Electro-Catheter Securities Litigation, Judge Nicholas Politan of the District of New Jersey stated:

[C]ounsel in this case are highly competent, very skilled in this very specialized area and were at all times during the course of the litigation that I participated in, which was perhaps the major part of the Court litigation here, always well prepared, well spoken, and knew their stuff and they are a credit to their profession. They are the top of the line.

In re Electro-Catheter Corp. Sec. Litig., No. 87-41 (D.N.J. Sept. 7, 1989).

Harwood Feffer has served or currently serves as lead or co-lead counsel in dozens of ERISA class actions, including: In re Royal Ahold N.V. Securities & ERISA Litigation, No. 03-md-01539-CCB (D. Robert I. Harwood, senior partner of Harwood Feffer, graduated from William and Mary Law School in 1971, and has specialized in class action litigation since beginning his career in 1972 at the Enforcement Division of the New York Stock Exchange. He has prosecuted numerous securities, class, derivative, and ERISA actions. He is a member of the Trial Lawyers' Section of the New York State Bar Association and has served as a guest lecturer at trial advocacy programs sponsored by the Practicing Law Institute.

Sec. Litig.*, No. 99-CV-00301-SJM (D. Me. filed Sept. 30, 1999), which resulted in the creation of a settlement fund of $45 million.

C. Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer Have The Necessary Resources To Represent the Class

Both Milberg Weiss and Harwood Feffer are highly successful and established law firms and have the financial resources and personnel necessary to vigorously pursue this action. Moreover, Plaintiff Coulter's proposed co-leadership structure possesses experience handling large-scale, complex class-action litigation, and is thus able to budget the appropriate resources to prosecute this action without duplicating or wasting resources.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Plaintiff Coulter respectfully requests that the Court enter Proposed Order: (1) consolidating the ERISA Actions; (2) appointing him as Interim Lead Plaintiff; and (3) appointing Harwood Feffer and Milberg Weiss as Interim Co-Lead Counsel to act on behalf of ERISA class plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs Carolyn Egan and John Siefken (the “Plaintiffs”) respectfully submit this memorandum of law (1) in opposition to the motion of C. Kenneth Coulter for the entry of an order appointing plaintiff Coulter as interim lead plaintiff and appointment of the law firms of Milberg Weiss LLP and Harwood Feffer LLP (“Milberg/Harwood”) as interim co-lead counsel; and (2) in support of their motion for the entry of an order consolidating the above-captioned actions and any substantially similar future filed actions under Fed. R. Civ. P 42(a) and appointing Wolf Haldenstein Adler Freeman & Herz LLP (“Wolf Haldenstein”) and Schiffrin Barroway Topaz & Kessler, LLP (“Schiffrin Barroway”) (together “Wolf/Schiffrin”) as interim class counsel.

The Plaintiffs respectfully submit herewith a [Proposed] Pre-trial Order No. 1 (the “Plaintiffs’ Proposed Order”) reflecting the relief requested herein.

I. INTRODUCTION

A. The Filing of the Actions

On December 14, 2007, plaintiff Egan, by and through her counsel Wolf Haldenstein, filed the first of the three above-captioned related actions in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. (A copy of plaintiff Egan’s complaint is annexed as Exhibit A to the Joint Declaration of Mark C. Rifkin and Edward W. Ciolko (“Rifkin-Ciolko Decl.”), submitted herewith.)

On December 19, 2007, after the filing of the Egan complaint, Milberg Weiss published a press release in which it announced that it was investigating possible illegal conduct relating to” the Plans and advised those who wished to discuss the investigation to contact Milberg Weiss by telephone, e-mail or through the firm’s website. (A copy of the Milberg Weiss press release is annexed as Exhibit B to the Rifkin-Ciolko Decl.)

On December 20, 2007, plaintiff John Siefken, by and through his counsel Schifffrin Barroway, filed the second of the three above-captioned actions. (A copy of plaintiff Siefken's complaint is annexed as Exhibit C to the Rifkin-Ciolko Decl.)

On December 28, 2007, two weeks after the Egan complaint and nine days after the publication of Milberg Weiss's press release, plaintiff Coulter, by and through his counsel Milberg Weiss, filed the third of the above-captioned actions. (A copy of plaintiff Coulter's complaint is annexed as Exhibit D to the Rifkin-Ciolko Decl.)

On January 18, 2008, plaintiff Gregory Major, by and through his counsel Abraham, Fruchter & Twersky, LLP, filed the fourth of the above captioned actions. (A copy of plaintiff Major's complaint is annexed as Exhibit E to the Rifkin-Ciolko Decl.)

B. The Nature of the Actions

The actions assert claims under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 ("ERISA") against Morgan Stanley, Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. and other alleged fiduciaries of the Morgan Stanley 401(k) Plan and the Morgan Stanley Employee Stock Ownership Plan ("ESOP") (collectively, the "Plans"), on behalf of the Plans themselves and a class of participants and/or beneficiaries in the Plans from December 1, 2005 to present (the "Class Period"), for relief to the Plans pursuant to Sections 409 and 502(a) of ERISA, 29 U.S.C. §§ 1109 and 1132(a). The actions primarily allege that during the Class Period, the defendants breached their fiduciary duties under ERISA by (1) investing and permitting the investment of Morgan Stanley stock in the Plans when it was no longer prudent to do so because, inter alia, Morgan Stanley had become heavily exposed to extraordinary risks relating to its subprime mortgage securitizations business; and (2) by failing to disclose negative material information concerning investment in Morgan Stanley stock.¹

C. The Motion Brought by Milberg Weiss

On or about January 9, 2007, Milberg Weiss moved to consolidate the currently filed actions, to have its client named “interim lead plaintiff,” and to have itself as well as Harwood Feffer LLP (which did not even appear on Milberg Weiss’s pleading) appointed as interim co-lead counsel.

As discussed below, the Plaintiffs are in accord that the above-captioned actions and any other subsequently filed related ERISA actions should be consolidated in this Court. However, the Plaintiffs strongly oppose the appointment of a “lead plaintiff” in this ERISA action and the appointment of Milberg/Harwood as co-lead counsel. No lead plaintiff need be appointed and Wolf/Schiffrin, who are counsel for the Plaintiffs in the first two filed cases and who have stellar records in ERISA and class action litigation, should be appointed as interim class counsel.

II. ARGUMENT

A. An Interim “Lead Plaintiff” Is Neither Warranted Nor Necessary In This ERISA Case

The Milberg/Harwood motion seeks to have plaintiff Coulter appointed as lead plaintiff in this action “on an interim basis pending class certification . . . as is required in an action on behalf of the Plans under ERISA § 502(a)(2), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(2).” (See memorandum of law submitted by Milberg/Harwood at pp. 6-7.) Milberg/Harwood’s view of what is “required” under the law does not bode well for its attempt to represent the Class. There is no requirement in the ERISA statute for the appointment of a lead plaintiff in an ERISA case, and Milberg/Harwood have not even attempted to demonstrate why such a designation would be advantageous or necessary in this particular ERISA case.

Under ERISA § 502(a)(2), 29 U.S.C. § 1132(a)(2), a civil action may be brought “by the Secretary, or by a participant, beneficiary or fiduciary for appropriate relief under section 1109 of this title.” ERISA § 509(a), 29 U.S.C. § 1109(a), in turn, imposes personal liability on breaching fiduciaries:

to make good to such plan any losses to the plan resulting from each such breach, and to restore to such plan any profits of such fiduciary which have been made through the use of assets of the plan by the fiduciary, and shall be subject to such other equitable or remedial relief as the court may deem appropriate, including removal of such fiduciary. (emphasis added.)

Therefore, relief sought under ERISA § 502(a)(2) inures solely to the benefit of the Plans, not to the benefit of individual participants of the Plans. See, e.g., In re Doral Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., No. 05 MDL 1706 RO, 2006 WL 1120491, at *1 (S.D.N.Y. Apr. 27, 2006) (noting that there is “[n]o statutory authority exists for the appointment of lead plaintiff in shareholder derivative actions.”); DiRienzo v. Philip Servs. Corp., 232 F.3d 49, 61-62 (2d Cir. 2000) (distinguishing between “lead plaintiffs” in class actions under the PSLRA and “plaintiffs in derivative actions”).

To the extent that the Court believes that appointment of a “lead plaintiff would for some reason be appropriate in this case, plaintiffs Egan and Siefken are well suited to act in that capacity and represent the putative Class prior to certification. They are current participants in the 401(k) Plan and the ESOP and were participants throughout the alleged Class Period. They both lost a significant amount of their retirement savings as a result of their investment in Morgan Stanley and are committed to litigating this case to recover losses suffered by the Plans. Milberg Weiss has offered no reason why plaintiff Coulter possesses any particular attribute that would put him a better position than plaintiffs Egan and Siefken to serve as a lead plaintiff.

B. Wolf/Schiffrin Should Be Appointed Interim Class Counsel

Rule 23(g)(2)(A) authorizes the Court to “designate . . . class counsel to act on behalf of the putative class before determining whether to certify the action as a class action.” As the Committee Notes to the 2003 amendments to Rule 23 state, designation of interim class counsel prior to certification is appropriate because:

[I]t will usually be important for an attorney to take action to prepare for the certification decision. The amendment to Rule 23(c)(1) recognizes that some discovery is often necessary for that determination. It may also be important to make or respond to motions before certification Rule 23(g)(2)(A) authorizes the court to designate interim counsel to act on behalf of the putative class before the class certification decision is made.

Rule 23(g)(1)(C)(i) directs the court to appoint class counsel who will “fairly and adequately represent the interests of the class.”² In appointing class counsel, the Rule directs the Court to consider “any other matter pertinent to counsel’s ability to fairly and adequately represent the interests of the class,” including the following factors described in Rule 23(g):

1. the work counsel has done in identifying or investigating potential claims in the action,
2. counsel’s experience in handling class actions, other complex litigation, and claims of the type asserted in the action,
3. counsel’s knowledge of the applicable law, and

² When appointing interim lead counsel, it is “generally accepted that the considerations set out in Rule 23(g)(1)(C), which governs appointment of class counsel once a class is certified, apply equally to the designation of interim class counsel before certification.” In re Air Cargo Shipping Servs. Antitrust Litig., 240 F.R.D. 56, 57 (E.D.N.Y. 2006) (citation omitted).

4. the resources counsel will commit to representing the class.

Wolf/Schiffrin easily satisfy the requirements of Rule 23(g)(1) for appointment as interim class counsel.

1. Wolf/Schiffrin Have Done Significant Work In This Case

Wolf/Schiffrin devoted considerable time and resources to independently investigating the claims asserted in this litigation and, as a result of that investigation, have filed the first complaints in the nation against Morgan Stanley and fiduciaries of the Plans in connection with losses suffered through exposure to the subprime market. Moreover, soon after the actions were filed, Wolf Haldenstein and Schiffrin Barroway both requested plan documents from Morgan Stanley pursuant to ERISA § 104(b), 29 U.S.C. § 1024(b) (see Rifkin-Ciolko Decl., Ex. H), arranged proof of service on defendants and negotiated a stipulation with defendants with respect to the filing of an answer. Wolf/Schiffrin are currently preparing a discovery plan, including initial interrogatory and discovery requests, third party discovery and a list of potential deponents.

2. Wolf/Schiffrin Have Extensive Experience In ERISA and Class Action Litigation

As reflected in the firm resumes attached as Exhibits I and J to the Rifkin-Ciolko Declaration, Wolf/Schiffrin are among the most experienced class action firms in the United States, having represented plaintiffs in nationwide class actions brought under ERISA and in other financially complex, large-scale litigation throughout the country. The firms' resumes contain a representative listing of the numerous in which the firms have been lead or one of the plaintiffs' primary counsel and the results achieved in those cases, and a representative list of the numerous published decisions in cases in which they have played a lead or other significant role.

a. Wolf Haldenstein

Wolf Haldenstein's qualifications to serve as lead counsel have been recognized repeatedly by courts nationwide. See, e.g., In re Luxottica Group, S.p.A. Sec. Litig., 2004 WL 2370650, at *5 (E.D.N.Y. Oct. 22, 2004) (selecting Wolf Haldenstein as lead class counsel based on the firm's "experience and expertise"); In re Comdisco Sec. Litig., 150 F. Supp. 2d 943, 951 (N.D. Ill. 2001) (noting that Wolf Haldenstein's credentials "are impeccable"). Recently, in In Re Dynamic Random Access Memory Antitrust Litigation, MDL-02-1486 (N.D. Cal.), where the firm was co-lead counsel, Judge Hamilton said (on August 15, 2007):

I thought that you all did an exceptionally good job of bringing to me only those matters that really required the Court's attention. You did an exceptionally good job at organizing and managing the case, assisting me in management of the case. There was excellent coordination between all the various different plaintiffs' counsel with your group and the other groups that are part of this litigation. . . . So my conclusion is the case was well litigated by both sides, well managed as well by both sides.

In In re Comdisco Sec. Litig., No. 01 C 2110 (N.D. Ill. July 14, 2005), Judge Milton Shadur observed:

It has to be said...that the efforts that have been extended [by Wolf Haldenstein] on behalf of the plaintiff class in the face of these obstacles have been exemplary. And in my view [Wolf Haldenstein] reflected the kind of professionalism that the critics of class actions . . . are never willing to recognize I really cannot speak too highly of the services rendered by class counsel in an extraordinary difficult situation.

Wolf Haldenstein has been court-appointed lead counsel, co-lead counsel, or an executive committee member in some of the largest and most significant class action lawsuits brought across the United States, and is currently lead counsel in the following cases brought under ERISA:

- In re Tower Automotive ERISA Litigation, No. 05 CV 2184 (LLS) (S.D.N.Y.) (settlement approved).

- MBNA Corp. ERISA Litigation, C.A. No. 05-429 GMN (D. Del.).
- In re Aon ERISA Litigation, No. 04 C 6875 (N.D. Ill.).
- In re Aquila, Inc. (ERISA Litigation), 04-865 (W.D. Mo.) (settlement approved).
- Spiziri v. The St. Paul Travelers Companies, Inc. ERISA Litigation, Civ. No. 04-5096 (D. Minn.) (settlement approved).
- In re Harley Davidson, Inc. ERISA Litigation, Case No. 05-C-00547-CNC (E.D. Wis.).
- In re Guidant Corp. ERISA Litigation, 1:05-cv-1009-LJM-TAB (S.D. Ind.).

Indeed, Wolf Haldenstein has had an active practice in federal labor relations and employee rights since the commencement of the New Deal -- nearly 70 years ago. In a landmark case establishing important rights for employees, Finnan v. L.F. Rothschild & Co., 726 F. Supp. 460 (S.D.N.Y. 1989), Wolf Haldenstein was lead counsel in the first certified class action under the Federal Plant Closing Act (WARN) and recovered $3.5 million for illegally-discharged employees.

In addition, attorneys in Wolf Haldenstein's corporate department regularly advise clients as to the development and administration of pension plans subject to ERISA. Thus, the Class will benefit from the unique depth and breadth of Wolf Haldenstein's knowledge and expertise in a number of related areas of the law.

Finally, Wolf Haldenstein's primary office is located in New York City, where this action is pending. Wolf Haldenstein's proximity to the Court will facilitate the efficient prosecution of the litigation while, at the same time, reducing the burden, cost, and expense to the Class that otherwise would be incurred by counsel who have to travel great distances for hearings, depositions, and other events throughout the course of the litigation.

b. Schiffrin Barroway

Schiffrin Barroway is among the most recognized firms in the specialized field of ERISA company stock class action litigation. Moreover, Schiffrin Barroway generally specializes in complex class action litigation, representing investors, employees and consumers in class actions pending in state and federal courts throughout the United States. During its successful history, the firm has recovered billions of dollars for class members. Schiffrin Barroway, one of the largest class action firms in the country, has developed a nationwide reputation for excellence and is able to manage all aspects of complex class action litigation with particular expertise in ERISA, consumer and securities litigation.³ Comprised of over 55 attorneys and a support staff consisting of about 100 paralegals, secretaries, file clerks, investigators, CPAs and administrative personnel, Schiffrin Barroway has the financial resources and manpower necessary to litigate any case.

As noted recently by one District Court which appointed Schiffrin Barroway as co-lead counsel after considering competing lead counsel applications, Schiffrin Barroway “has extensive experience litigating ERISA breach of fiduciary class actions.” Nowak v. Ford Motor Co., 240 F.R.D. 355, 362 (E.D. Mich. 2006). Indeed, the firm’s ERISA litigation department is one of the foremost in the country, as recognized by the Honorable Julie A. Robinson at the final fairness hearing in In re Westar Energy ERISA Litig., No. 03-CV-4032-JAR, at 33 (D. Kan. July 27, 2006) (“Class counsel [Schiffrin Barroway] is experienced, nationally recognized in this field, and had the requisite skill necessary to perform the legal services required in cases as complex as this.”).⁴ The Honorable Richard W. Story, United States District Judge, in In re

Mirant Corp. ERISA, et al., No. 1:03-cv-1027-RWS (N.D. Ga. Nov. 16, 2006), reached the same conclusion. (“Class Counsel . . . are obviously eminently qualified to bring and pursue this litigation.”).⁵

In addition to the cases cited above, courts across the country, acknowledging the firm’s history and track record of impressive results, have not hesitated to appoint Schiffrin Barroway as Lead or Co-Lead Counsel in ERISA breach of fiduciary class actions, directly analogous to the instant matter.⁶

In the course of prosecuting ERISA class actions such as this as lead or co-lead counsel, Schiffrin Barroway has prepared numerous consolidated pleadings, responded to motions to dismiss, propounded discovery requests and reviewed hundreds of thousands of pages of plan-related documents and related documentation, and litigated cases through the summary judgment phase. Indeed, the firm’s litigation efforts have resulted in favorable court opinions in a number of ERISA decisions denying defendants’ motions to dismiss or for summary judgment.⁷

⁵ Attached hereto as Exhibit L to the Rifkin-Ciolko Decl. Likewise, the Honorable Laura Taylor Swain commended Schiffrin Barroway in its representation of a similar class in an analogous action against Citigroup, finding that “the parties and their attorneys were creative in approaching the legal issues presented and the challenge of coming up with meaningful and constructive relief for plan members. . . .” Transcript of Final Fairness Hearing, In re: Citigroup Litigation, No. 03-CV-2932, at 7 (S.D.N.Y. Nov. 15, 2006), attached to the Rifkin-Ciolko Decl. as Exhibit M.

Oct. 25, 2005); and In re Calpine Corp. ERISA Litig., No. 03-CV-1685 (N.D. Cal. Apr. 17, 2003). Notably, the foregoing represent a subset of the ERISA class actions prosecuted by Schiffrin Barroway.

⁷ Cases include: Brieger v. Tellabs, Inc., 473 F. Supp. 2d 878 (N.D. Ill. 2007); In re Lear ERISA Litig., No. 06-CV-11735 (S.D. Mich. Apr. 10, 2006); Woods v. Southern Co., 396 F. Supp. 2d 1351 (N.D. Ga. (continued...))

As a result of its extensive ERISA litigation experience, the firm “has also successfully engaged in extensive, intricate and successful settlement negotiations involving [complex] ERISA claims,”⁸ including court-ordered mediations, and has recovered hundreds of millions of dollars for its clients and class members. These negotiations and mediations have resulted in several large recoveries for affected classes. See In re AOL ERISA Litig., 02-CV-8853 (as Co-Lead Counsel, Schiffrin Barroway helped obtain a $100 million settlement); In re Global Crossing Sec. & ERISA Litig., 225 F.R.D. 436 (S.D.N.Y. 2004) (as Co-Lead Counsel, Schiffrin Barroway helped obtain settlement providing injunctive relief and $78 million payment for plan losses); In re Bristol-Myers Squibb Co. ⁹ In approving the In re Honeywell settlement, the Honorable Dickinson R. Debevoise stated the following with regard to Schiffrin Barroway’s representation of the ERISA class:

The ERISA litigation department is headed by Joseph Meltzer, a partner at Schiffrin Barroway. Mr. Meltzer concentrates his practice in the areas of ERISA litigation and has helped obtain several multi-million dollar settlements on behalf of class members, including the Schiffrin Barroway class settlements listed above. Mr. Meltzer represents employees in each of the numerous ERISA breach of fiduciary duty actions listed above for Schiffrin Barroway. Mr. Meltzer is a member of the American Bar Association and is actively involved in the ABA's Section Committee on Employee Benefits and is an invited lecturer on ERISA class action litigation.

Recently, Schiffrin Barroway was commended for its efforts in representing a class of plaintiffs and achieving a $3.2 billion settlement in a "case of unprecedented difficulty and complexity." See Transcript of Fairness Hearing Before the Honorable Paul J. Barbadoro, In re Tyco International, Ltd., No. C.02-MD-1335-B, at 82 (D.N.H. Nov. 2, 2007).¹⁰ Judge Barbadoro noted:

ERISA class actions are a relatively new phenomenon, presenting complex issues as the courts deal with the complicated ERISA statute. Faced with this statute, counsel had to engage in extensive factual explorations and address legal problems both in the context of class certification and during the course of the motion to dismiss.

it's an outstanding amount for the class. This is real money, a significant percentage of what might be recovered. There were and are real risks to the class in this case So by any measure, this is an outstanding result for the class."

3. Wolf/Schiffirin Will Commit the Resources Necessary to Represent the Class

Third, Wolf Haldenstein/Schiffirin Barroway have the ability and willingness to expend the financial and manpower resources necessary to prosecute this litigation on behalf of the Class. Throughout their history of undertaking class actions, there has never been any question that these firms can devote millions of dollars of resources for the prosecution a case.

Accordingly, Wolf Haldenstein/Schiffirin Barroway should be appointed to act as interim class counsel in these related ERISA actions and all subsequently-filed consolidated actions and, as reflected in Cross-Moving Plaintiffs' Proposed Order, authorized to direct and supervise the activities of the other firms that currently or may in the future represent plaintiffs in these or future related class actions. Milberg Weiss, which filed its complaint only after both Wolf Haldenstein and Schiffirin Barroway had filed their complaints, and only after publishing a notice over the internet designed to attract a client to bring an action similar to the action already filed, offer no reason why it and Harwood Feffer should be appointed as interim class counsel over Wolf/Schiffirin.

C. Consolidation Of The Actions Is Proper Under The Federal Rules Of Civil Procedure

Consolidation of actions in federal courts is governed by Rule 42(a), which states:

When actions involving a common question of law or fact are pending before the court, it may order a joint hearing or trial of any or all the matters in issue in the actions; it may order all the actions consolidated; and it may make such orders concerning proceedings therein as may tend to avoid unnecessary costs or delay,

Fed. R. Civ. P. 42(a). Consolidation is appropriate where there are common issues of law or fact, and where the benefits of consolidation outweigh potential prejudice to the defendants. See, e.g., Johnson v. Celotex Corp., 899 F.2d 1281, 1284 (2d Cir.), cert. denied, 498 U.S. 920 (1990) (“Rule 42(a) ... empowers a trial judge to consolidate actions for trial when there are common questions of law or fact to avoid unnecessary costs or delay.”); Primavera Familienstiftung v. Askin, 173 F.R.D. 115, 129 (S.D.N.Y. 1997) (“so long as any confusion or prejudice does not outweigh efficiency concerns, consolidation will generally be appropriate”); Manual for Complex Litigation §§ 11.631, 20.11 (4th ed. 2004); 8 James Wm. Moore et al., Moore’s Federal Practice at § 42.10[I][6] (3d ed. 1997) (noting that “actions alleging similar violations against the same defendant[s]” are “routinely” consolidated).

Consolidation of the currently filed actions, as well as any future filed actions that are deemed to be substantially similar, is proper here because the actions each assert claims under ERISA against similar defendants and involve common questions of law and fact. Consolidating the actions will help to avoid unnecessary costs and delay by preventing duplicative efforts and allow the Court to adjudicate the relevant issues in a single proceeding. In this regard, and in this regard only, the Plaintiffs are in accord with the motion of Milberg/Harwood.

Accordingly, the Plaintiffs’ Proposed Order seeks to consolidate these and any additional class actions filed in or transferred to this District asserting claims under ERISA in connection with the above-stated allegations. The Plaintiffs’ Proposed Order also establishes procedures for the captioning, filing and docketing of papers in these and any other cases that may hereafter be filed in or transferred to this Court, procedures that are particularly necessary and appropriate in complex class action litigation such as this. See Manual for Complex Litigation § 21.12 (4th ed. 2004).

III. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court enter the Plaintiffs' Proposed Order: (1) consolidating the actions; and (2) appointing Wolf/Schiffman as Interim Class Counsel to act on behalf of the ERISA class plaintiffs in the consolidated actions.

DEFENDANTS 1-30,

Defendants

WHEREAS, the above-referenced actions (collectively, the “ERISA Actions”) allege breaches of fiduciary duties in violation of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (“ERISA”) involving the Morgan Stanley 401(k) Plan (“401(k) Plan”) and the Morgan Stanley Employee Stock Ownership Plan (“ESOP”) (collectively, the “Plans”), retirement plans established for the benefit of the employees of Morgan Stanley and Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc. (collectively, “Morgan Stanley” or “the Company”), and such actions involve common allegations;

WHEREAS, appointment of interim Class Counsel is appropriate and consistent with the recommendations of the Manual for Complex Litigation (4th ed. 2004) and Fed. R. Civ. P. 23(g)(2);

NOW, THEREFORE, THE COURT ORDERS as follows:

CONSOLIDATION OF RELATED ACTIONS

1. The ERISA Actions and any action arising out of the same operative facts now pending or hereafter filed in or transferred to this Court are hereby consolidated pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 42(a) (“Consolidated Action”). They shall be referred to collectively as In re Morgan Stanley ERISA Litigation, Master File No. 07 Civ. 11285.

CAPTION OF CASES

2. Every pleading filed in the Consolidated Action shall bear the following caption:

3. When a pleading or other court paper filed in the Consolidated Action is intended to apply to all actions therein, the words "All Actions" shall appear immediately after the words "THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO:" in the caption set out above. When a pleading or other court paper is intended to be applicable to less than all such actions, the party filing the document shall indicate, immediately after the words "THIS DOCUMENT RELATES TO:" the action(s) to which the document is intended to be applicable by last name of the plaintiff(s) and the docket number(s).

MASTER DOCKET

4. A Master Docket is hereby established for the Consolidated Action, including actions subsequently consolidated herein pursuant to this Order. Entries in said Master Docket shall be applicable to the Consolidated Action, and entries shall be made therein in accordance with the regular procedures of the Clerk of this Court, except as modified by this Order.

5. When a pleading is filed and the caption, pursuant to this Order, shows that it is applicable to "All Actions," the Clerk shall file such pleading in the Master File and note such filing in the Master Docket. No further copies need be filed nor other docket entries made.

6. When a paper is filed and the caption shows that it is applicable to fewer than All Actions, the Clerk shall file the original of the paper in the Master File and a copy in the file of each separate action to which it applies and shall note such filing in the Master Docket and in the docket of each separate action. The party filing such paper shall supply the Clerk with sufficient copies of any such paper to permit compliance with this paragraph.

MASTER FILE AND SEPARATE ACTION FILES

7. A Master File is hereby established for the consolidated proceedings in the Consolidated Action. The Master File shall be Civil Action No. 07 Civ. 11285. The original of this Order shall be filed by the Clerk in the Master File herein established. The Clerk shall maintain a separate file for each action consolidated herein and filings shall be made in accordance with the regular procedures of the Clerk of this Court, except as modified by this Order. The Clerk shall file a copy of this Order in each such separate file. The Clerk shall mail a copy of this Order to counsel of record in each of the actions consolidated herein.

NEWLY-FILED OR TRANSFERRED ACTIONS

8. When a case that arises out of the same operative facts as the Consolidated Action is hereinafter filed in or transferred to this Court, it shall be consolidated as provided in Section 1 above and the Clerk of this Court shall:

- File a copy of this Order in the separate file for such action;
- Mail a copy of this Order to the attorneys for the plaintiff(s) in the newly-filed or transferred case and to any new defendant(s) in the newly-filed or transferred case; and
- Make the appropriate entry in the Master Docket.

9. The Court requests the assistance of counsel in calling to the attention of the Clerk of this Court the filing or transfer of any case that might properly be consolidated as part of this litigation.

APPLICATION OF THIS ORDER TO SUBSEQUENT CASES

10. This Order shall apply to each class action assigned to the undersigned alleging claims similar to those set forth in these actions and brought on behalf of participants in or beneficiaries of the Plans. This Order shall apply to each such case which is subsequently filed in or transferred to this Court, and which is assigned to the undersigned, unless a party objecting to the consolidation of that case or to any other provision of this Order serves an application for relief from this Order or from any of its provisions within ten (10) days after the date of service of this Order on counsel of that party. The provisions of this Order shall apply to such action pending the Court's ruling on the application.

11. Unless a plaintiff in a subsequently filed or transferred case is permitted by the Court to use a separate complaint, defendants shall not be required to answer, plead or otherwise move with respect to that complaint. If a plaintiff in any such case is permitted to use a separate complaint, each defendant shall have thirty (30) days from the date the Court grants such permission within which to answer, plead or otherwise move with respect to that complaint.

NO APPOINTMENT OF INTERIM LEAD PLAINTIFF

12. The Court finds it to be unnecessary to appoint any Interim Lead Plaintiff at this time. The Court shall make a final determination regarding the identity of any Class Representatives pursuant to a motion for class certification or otherwise as the Court deems necessary and appropriate.

13. Wolf Haldenstein Adler Freeman & Herz LLP, and Milberg Weiss LLP, are appointed Co-Lead Class Counsel. Schiffrin Barroway Topaz & Kessler, LLP, and Harwood Feffer LLP are appointed to the Executive Committee of Class Counsel. Co-Lead Counsel, in consultation with the Executive Committee, shall have the responsibilities and authority as follows:

- maintaining communication and promoting efficient and harmonious dealings among all plaintiffs' counsel; and
- coordinating activities to avoid duplication and inefficiency in the filing, serving and/or implementation of pleadings, other court papers, discovery papers, and discovery practice, and, generally, in the litigation.

14. No motion shall be initiated or filed on behalf of any plaintiff in the Consolidated Action except through Co-Lead Class Counsel.

15. All plaintiffs' counsel shall keep contemporaneous time and expense records and shall provide such records upon request to Co-Lead Class Counsel.
